Terms of use (en) Privacy Notice Although it is rare that people should follow our troubleshooting guidelines, there are some cases in which you need to. We go through the troubleshooting guide here. Step 1 - Make sure you have an active and reliable internet connection. This can lead to unexpected mistakes, such as timeouts. Step 2 - Make sure you get your data correctly. If you can view your password, use it. Provided that there is no one who can't see your password around. Step 3 - Make sure your CAPS LOCK is off. Step 4 - If you still can't access the site, you can clear the cache and cookies. Find our guide on how to do this on the most popular browsers, here. Step 5 - Turn off any virtual private network (VPN) you can use. Some sites will block certain countries or place IP addresses. Step 6 - If you don't use a VPN and you have a good connection, you may have forgotten your password. Follow the restore instructions on the paroly here. Step 7 - If you still have a problem and you can't access your account, please feel free to contact us and we'd be happy to help you as soon as we can. Has the portal changed the login page? OTHER INFORMATION Other information we can collect Other information is any information that does not disclose your specific identity or is not directly related to the individual, such as: Browser and informationApp device use dataInformation collected using cookies and other technologiesDemographic information and other information provided by youAggregated informationIf we are required to treat other information as personal information under applicable law, then we are required to treat other information as personal information under applicable law, then we Use it for purposes for which we use and disclose personal information as detailed in this Notice. How We can collect other information We and our third-party service providers can collect other information in a variety of ways, including: Through your browser browser assembled by most browsers or automatically through a device, such as the Media Access Control Address (MAC), computer type (Windows or Macintosh), screen resolution, the name and version of the operating system, the device manufacturer and model, the language, type and version of the internet browser, and the name and version of the services you use. We use this information to ensure that the Services work properly. Using cookies: Cookies are pieces of information stored directly on the computer you're using. Cookies allow us to collect information such as browser type, time spent on services, pages visited, language preferences, and other anonymous traffic data. We and our service providers use this information for security purposes, to facilitate navigation, to more effectively display information, to personalize your experience when using services and to recognize your computer to help you use the Services. We also collect statistical information about the use of the Services to continuously improve their design and functionality, understand how they are used, and help us address issues related to them. If you disable cookies on the site, the site may not function properly. Analytics: We can use Google Analytics, which uses cookies and similar technologies to collect and analyze information about the use of Services and report on activities and trends. The service can also collect information about the use of other websites, apps, and internet resources. You can learn about Google's practices by responding to www.google.com/policies/privacy/?partners/, and opt out by downloading Google Analytics to opt out of the browser add-on available at Address: Your IP address is the number that is assigned to your computer by your Internet Service Provider (ISP). The IP address can be automatically identified and registered in the log files of our servers whenever you, as a user, gain access to the Services. This log may include time and page visited. We use IP addresses to calculate usage levels, get your approximate location, diagnose server problems, and administer services. We do not use IP addresses for identification or direct marketing purposes. IP address collection is standard industry practice and is done automatically by many websites, applications, and other services. From you: Information, such as your preferred means of communication, is collected when you voluntarily provide it. Aggregated information: Aggregated personal information does not personally identify you or any other user of the Service (for example, we may aggregate personal information to calculate our users who have a specific code for the phone area). As we may use and disclose other information, we may use and disclose other information for any purpose, except as provided Law. In some cases, we may combine other information with personal information. If we do, we will treat the combined information as personal information as long as it is merged. If you have provided us with personal information, we may link this information to your use of our site, which is collected automatically. THIRD-PARTY SERVICES We may include links to third-party websites such as government agencies, carriers, and health and wellness providers. When you access these links, you leave the Service, and the use of these third-party sites will be governed by the privacy policy of those third parties, not by this Privacy Notice. This Privacy Notice does not apply and we are not responsible for the privacy, information or other actions of third parties, including any third party, to work on any site or service with which the Services may refer. The inclusion of a link to Services does not mean the approval of a related site or service by us or our affiliates. SECURITY We strive to use reasonable organizational, technical and administrative measures to protect personal information in our organization. Unfortunately, no data transfer or storage system can be 100% secure. If you have reason to believe that your interaction with us is no longer secure (for example, if you feel that the security of your account has been compromised), please let us know immediately under the Contact us section below. CHOICES AND ACCESS Is your choice regarding our use and disclosure of your personal information Our standard process is to send information about your benefits and other messages electronically via email or on our online portal. You can request a message via paper mail under contact us below. How you can access or change your personal information If you want to view, correct or update personal information, you can do so by contacting your HR contact or accessing your employer's online benefits portal. Please note that we may need to retain certain information for the purposes of keeping records and/or to complete any transactions you started before requesting a change. There may also be residual information that will remain in our databases and other records that will not be deleted. If you live in California under the age of 18 and are a registered service user, you can ask us to remove content or information you have posted to the Services under the Contact Us section below. Please note that your request Guarantees the complete or comprehensive removal of content or information, for example, some of the content may be reposted by another user. RETENTION PERIOD My personal information for the period required for objectives set out in this Privacy Notice, unless a longer period of storage is required or is not permitted by law. USE OF SERVICES BY MINORS Beca due to the nature of our business, we do not request or intentionally receive information from children under the age of 13, except that we collect information about dependent children, which relates to their preferential coverage and beneficial designations. Parents and legal guardians have the right to provide us with information about their children. CROSS-BORDER TRANSFER Your Personal information can be stored and processed in any country where we have facilities or where we attract service providers. Using the Services, you consent to the transfer of information to countries outside your home country, including the United States, which may have data protection rules that are different from your country's rules. SENSITIVE INFORMATION We ask you not to send us or disclose any sensitive personal information (e.g. information related to race or ethnicity, political views, religion, or other beliefs, health, biometrics or genetic characteristics, criminal past or union membership) to or through the Services or otherwise to us. UPDATE FOR THIS NEWS CAN change this Privacy Notice. Legend's last update at the top of this page indicates when this Privacy Notice was last revised. Any changes will take effect when we develop the revised Privacy Notice. Using the Services after these changes means that you accept a revised Privacy Notice. CONTACTING US If you have any questions about this Privacy Notice or how your personal information can be used or disclosed, please contact us by phone privacy@willistowerswatson.com, or call toll-free at 888-471-4502. Because email is not always secure, please do not include credit card or other confidential information in your email. For all other requests, please contact Contact Us information available on this website or customer service contact information provided by your Plan Sponsor.
